French To Quit JP Post

Effective at "high noon" on Feb. 1, 1972, Precinct I Place 2 Justice of the Peace Howe French will officially resign from the office in which he is serving his third term.

The 62-year-old peace justice said he would not comment at this time as to the reason for giving-up the office, but the action indicates he still has his eye on the position of Navarro County Sheriff which will be on the election ballot this year.

Since French already holds a seat as an elected official, it would be necessary for him to resign at that position if he should decide to file for the sheriff race. The last day for filing for a place on the ballot in primary and general elections is Feb. 7, at 6 p.m.

French first entered office as a peace justice on Jan. 1, 1963. He was elected to a new term in 1970 and this term will not expire until 1974.

"At this time," French commented today, "I would like to express my gratitude to the voters of Precinct I for having elected me for three terms to

He has worked in the law enforcement field for the past 20 years in Navarro County. The first 11 years were as bailiff in district court while a deputy with the sheriff's department, and the past nine years have been as Justice of the Peace.

Jobless Rate Up in Texas In November

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Employment Commission reported Saturday that 4.3 per cent of the state's labor force was looking for work in November, a rise from October.

Unemployment in October was 3.7 per cent of the labor force.

November's joblessness was slightly higher than the 4.2 per cent posted in November 1970.

There were "many more entrants into the labor force than could be absorbed by existing job openings," the TEC said. Between mid-October and mid-November, 1,700 factory jobs were lost, the agency reported.

Mystery Surrounds Impounding of Truck

By ROB MECKEL

Sun Staff Writer Something of a minor mystery surrounding a case under investigation here by the Texas Department of Public. Safety appears to have been partially solved. Until late Saturday, alleged charges of driving a vehicle with fictitious license plates appeared to have gotten lost in the shuffle of law enforcement.

The Daily Sun Friday received information that an allegedly stolen vehicle had been confiscated by the Texas Department of Public Safety and was being stored at Hair and Haynie Wrecker Service pending investigation.

Sgt. J.F. Scott, head of the DPS office here, said Friday that no theft charges had been filed in connection with the

According to Scott, a Navarro County man bought a wrecked pickup truck as salvage and repaired it, intending to make a wrecker out of it. The man who sold the vehicle to the Navarro County man promised to get him the title to the vehicle but the title never arrived.

The Navarro County man, according to the Sergeant, wanted to use the vehicle in his business, but, without a title to register it, the vehicle could not legally travel the highways. So, the local man apparently used fictitious license

Fairfield Eyes Sanitation Code

FAIRFIELD-Fairfield city councilmen heard a request from councilman Dr. Joe Crossno during Tuesday night's meeting for consideration of a city sanitation code. In other action, the council issued a $30,000 check to the G&H Equipment Co., Inc., for construction of a water storage tank and heard two requests for pay raises.

Full details of the city council meeting will be in Thursday's issue of the Daily Sun on the Freestone County Reports'

Ellis County Officials Meet

WAXAHACHIE--The Ellis County Commission Court, meeting in their first regular session of 1972, agreed Friday to advertise for three new specially equipped police cars, and handled routine beginning-of-the-year.

County Judge Milton Hartsfield directed the sheriff's office to provide needed specifications for the needed three vehicles for the county auditor.

The Commissioners Court also approved the 1972 official holiday schedule. Additional details on activities and business of the Court's first meeting will be reported in Sunday's edition of The

Ellis Employes Get Pay Raises

WAXAHACHIE-Eliis County employes will find their paychecks a little fatter this month, due to a 5½ per cent wage increase voted them Monday morning by the County Commissioners Court.

The salary increase will be retroactive

The Commissioners Court also agreed to execute a contract with the Texas District and County Employes Retirement System. Under the system, the county and each employe will pay seven per cent of their full monthly salary into the fund.

The court authorized County Judge Milton Hartsfield to execute the contract, which is also retroactive to Jan. 1. Both motions passed unanimously.

Dispatcher

Resigns

David Fogg, police dispatcher since Oct. 6, 1971, has resigned effective with his Sunday night duty shift, to accept employment in Ennis, Police Chief Don Massey announced Monday.

Chief Massey said Fogg advised he was getting married soon and quit to take a better paying job with an Ennis automotive store.

No replacement was announced for the vacancy on the 4 p.m. to midnight plates on the wrecker truck.

Scott said the wrecker was stopped for a license check and the identification number was routinely sent to Austin. When results of the license check returned from Austin, the DPS learned that the vehicle was stolen in Houston. When the DPS informed the Navarro County man that he was in possession of a stolen vehicle, the man took the wrecker to the DPS officials and it was later stored at Hair and Haynie Wrecker Service pending investigation.

Scott said the Navarro County man "is clear himself" and no criminal charges were filed against him concerning the stolen vehicle.

"He was a victim of circumstance," the sergeant said.

However, Scott also mentioned that the only charges against the Navarro County man concerned alleged driving of a vehicle with fictitious license plates.

Both Preceinct I justices of the peace, W.H. Tipton of Place I and Howe French of Place 2, said late Friday that no charges had been filed during the past few days against the Navarro County man in connection with the alleged license plate violation.

But Tipton got in touch with The Daily Sun late Saturday afternoon and said that he had gone by the courthouse earlier in the day and found where his secretary had entered two citations against the Navarro County man in the JP's docket book. The two citations, issued by Highway Patrolmen Bill Bradley and Bob Turner on Jan. 4, were for displaying a fictitious registration plate and for failure to display current registration plates.

Tipton added that individuals who have been issued citations have ten days in which to appear in court.

There was no explanation as to why it had taken three days for the notations to appear in Tipton's docket book. Efforts to contact the local Highway Patrol have been futile.

DAILY act-SUN

Q: I called the telephone company here recently asking how much it would cost to advertise something in the yellow pages and they told me they couldn't tell me their rates on the phone. Can Act-Sun

By BETTY JEAN CLAY

find out for me? (W.E.)

A: It's not that simple. Manager Gerry Rogers says the telephone company has to know exactly what you have in mind as rates vary according to what the yellow page advertisement would entail. Yellow Page advertising is handled by a special department out of Dallas. The local company sets up an appointment with Yellow Page personnel and the prospective advertiser and determines just what the customer wants, lays out the dummy ad and informs the customer what the charge would be. It takes a "personal interview" by Yellow Page specialists to ascertain exactly what the customer wants and this is the primary reason the telephone office here couldn't quote you "rates" as they didn't know from what you said what you had in mind, and it isn't handled by local office personnel per se. If you will give them the chance to set up the interview with Yellow Page personnel all information you desire can thus be obtained, Manager Rogers savs.

Q: Can a Corsicana police officer accept a reward? I noticed an ad recently in the Daily Sun where a local business offered a reward to anyone for the apprehension and conviction of burglars caught burglarizing his business. (L.O.L.)

A: Yes, as fas as Police Chief Don Massey can determine, there is no state law nor city ordinance prohibiting payment of a reward, voluntaily offered, to a policemen. Chief Massey called the Texas Attorney General's Office in Austin and also checked with an expert on municipal law with the Texas League of Municipalitites in Austin on this question. There is no ordinance regulation against it in Corsicana, and there has been no administrative policy by the chief of police in the 12 years Massey has been in the department, nor does he have a department policy against it.

NJC Board Talks Adult Education, Rubber-Stamps Audit, Pays $14,249

By SAM PENDERGRAST

Editor of The Sun The Navarro Junior College Board of Trustees, in another short-and-sweet 30minute session Monday at 5 p.m. in the administration building conference room, approved without comment the audit first presented at the December meeting.

The report, prepared by Corsicana accountant Philip W. De Franco, reflected funds of $1,458,839 and expenditures of $1,421,136 as of Aug. 31, 1971, as released in the December session.

Present and giving rapid approval to all questions were Board President Leighton Dawson and Members James Edwin Davis, Jimmy Hooser, Homer Carroll, and Oliver Albritton.

Administrators present for the coffeeand-pie meeting were NJC President Dr. Ben Jones and college fiscal officer Joe Pat Donaldson.

Following Dr. Jones's comment that "I think everything is more or less routine now.", the board earlier approved, with little comment, the financial statement covering receipts and disbursements from Sept. 1, 1971, through Dec. 31, 1971, and reflecting total cash receipts of $843,180.55 and total disbursements of $451,419.26, leaving a bank balance (dated Dec. 20, 1971) of $241,761.29 and investments of $150,000.00 for a total balance of $391,761.29.

The break-down of receipts includes $496,406.25 from state appropriations, $103.902 from state reimbursements, $540.53 from federal funds, $66,127.93 from taxes, $107,905.50 from tuition and fees, $8,490.62 from "miscellaneous" and car registration, $4,265.25 from the student aid fund, $25,382.47 from dormitory rent, and $30,160 in plant funds.

Receipts in the current month were $250,164.66, which, added to the November balance of $284,649.81, account for the current total cash of «$534.814.47.» Total disbursements in the current month were shown at $143,053.18, accounting for the current The improvements to the Drane

Science Hall area, expected at last month's meeting to come to "about $24.000". showed a final cost of $24,035.43.

Current accounts payable, lumped with the September-December financial statement and approval of the minutes of the December meeting in board action, totaled $14,249.50.

Major items on the accounts payable list included $1,522 for baritone horn and sousaphones with cases; $644 for a projector for the library; $443.70 for supplies for the Business and Data Processing Dept.; five lots of books for the library totaling $1,376.52, plus rental of a copier and supplies for the library amounting to $148.82; Lone Star Gas Co. services for November at $457.07; Texas Power and Light Co. services for November at $3,379.25; $442.40 for equipment and supplies for the Art and Drafting Dept.; Southwestern Bell Co. services for November at $825.22;

$364.80 for films and projector for the Economics Dept.; $367.18 for equipment and supplies for the Biology Dept.; $274.31 for Water and Sanitary Dept. services for November; $442.70 for Maintenance Dept. supplies; $300 for hats for the Drill Team; and $404.40 for supplies for November from the NJC Bookstore.

Dr. Jones noted a change in tuition fees ordered by the last Texas Legislature, whereby students now pay a student carrying the normal load of 15 hours will pay $60 rather than the former flat fee of $50 for course loads up to 20 hours.

In answer to a question from Carroll, he said faculty members have been granted salary raises as voted last year 'except for the 90-day freeze period" instigated by President Nixon Aug. 15, and he expects the increment for that period to be forthcoming.

Albritton praised NJC Coach Donnie Duncan for his efforts to place athletes on scholarships at senior colleges, and Dr. Jones reported two more signings imminent with Southern Methodist University. The President said the new athletic rule allowing freshmen to play varsity football will have little effect on NJC but noted "We're trying to get it changed.", referring to the prior ruling that junior college athletes may not play in senior colleges before they graduate from junior colleges, which he said works a hardship on NJC athletes transferring to four-year institutions.

Most of the brief meeting was taken up with a report from Dr. Jones on the four upcoming adult education courses. They

..."Real Estate II", the last 45 hours of the night course begun last semester attended by some 80 persons, with about half that many expected to attend the second part, which allows successful students to take a real estate broker's license. (The first half prepared successful students to sell real estate but not to qualify for the broker's licenses.) Real Estate II will meet in the Technical Arts Auditorium from 7-10 p.m. on 15 consecutive Tuesdays beginning Feb. 1. Dr. Jones noted anticipated toughening of the rules for licensing in Texas may encourage many would-be real estate brokers to finish the requirements now in order to take advantage of the less stringent rules. Fee for Real Estate II is

"fun" self-improvement course, it will be taught by Mrs. Dale (Barbara) Moe, wife of the new law enforcement courses instructor at NJC, and will meet ten Mondays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Jan. 24. About 18 are expected to attend the course, which will cost $20.

..."Police Academy" courses. Taught by Dale Moe, this will offer a total of 160 hours of instruction, mostly in the basics of law enforcement and mostly for presently employed officers. Classes will last eight hours daily throughout the month of February. Dr. Jones said he did not expect a charge for individual officers, indicating there may be some federal funds to pay tuition. (EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Jones called The Daily Sun Tuesday morning to report that he has since discovered such federal funds are not presently available, but "We're working on it." Earlier Monday, the County Commissioners Court voted to pay the $25 tuition fee for two deputies to attend the Academy.) Dr. Jones said Corsicana Chief of Police Don Massey had indicated seven or eight local officers will attend, and other area officers have been invited to attend. (NOTE: But Chief Massey's prediction of seven or eight officers in attendance was also based on the expectation that there would be some federal assistance with

In other matters, Dr. Jones indicated plans are being made for NJC administration officials to canvass cities in a large area of North-Central Texas to investigate possibilities for "offcampus" classes to better serve the educational needs of the area. He said the legislature has authorized such "extension" classes for operation by NJC, and courses for adults. The idea is to take the college classroom to interested adults who might not be able to attend classes on the local campus. "I see where it would be a growing program, and we would (eventually) have to have a full-time director," he remarked. In answer to a question from Hooser, the President noted the State would probably assist with the cost of such courses. Back to the NJC faculty, Dr. Jones reported completion Monday of the new, between-semesters in-service training session for NJC teachers, made possible by the new "common (state-wide) calendar" for colleges in which teachers are on duty for about a week between Christmas and the return of students.

Dr. Russell Davis, director of the Junior College Center of East Texas State University, presided over two daily morning general sessions for lectures and a daily afternoon "rap session" for group discussion of problems, procedures, philosophies and expectations in the junior college field.

About 20 faculty members participated in the Jan. 4-7 and Jan. 10 program, with some of them doing extra "homework" for college credit.

Dr. Jones reported that registration would be held Tuesday morning for the spring session at NJC.

And, finally, he called board members' attention to recent newspaper stories indicating the Texas attorney general's office has ruled the 1971 ethics bill unconstitutional, saying this means "Conversational Spanish." Mostly a members of such boards won't have to file personal financial reports, as a

> In addition, he said, it has been ruled that college teachers may not change their initial choice of accepting the "old" teachers' retirement plan or the new socalled "optional" plan, although teachers may still take their pick of the plans. The new plan has tended to be popular with younger teachers, he said. The meeting ended without a formal

County Commission To Take Bids on Fire Truck for City

By BETTY JEAN CLAY Staff Writer

Navarro County Commissioners Court Monday voted to take bids Jan. 24 on a pickup truck to be outfitted as a fire truck for use by the City of Corsicana rather than amend a contract whereby the county paid Corsicana $400 annually heretofore to answer fire alarms outside the city.

The Court will meet at 10 a.m. that date to receive the bids on a one-ton pickup truck which will replace a threequarter ton pickup truck of the Corsicana Fire Department which was demolished several months ago while answering a fire alarm out in the county. The City had requested the county increase the annual payment, or in lieu of that, furnish a replacement fire truck. In other action, bids received from three dealers on the proposed purchase of one or more two-ton trucks were taken under consideration. The Court had called for bids with and without trade-in allowance on a 1967 truck. Bids received included: Goins-Weatherby Ford Sales,

$3,740 without trade, $3,035 with trade; Bruner Chevrolet, Kerens, $3.868.62 without, $3,297 with; Tom White Chevrolet, $3,752.20 without, $3,037.20

The Court voted to increase the surgical schedule benefits for county employes under their hospitalization and medical policy with Great American Insurance Co. from a maximum of $400 to a new maximum of $900. This will be at a cost to the county of 78 cents per employe and at a cost to the employe for his dependents covered by the policy at a cost of $1.51.

Authorization was voted by the Court for the county auditor to pay Navarro Junior College an enrollment fee of $25 each for two deputy sheriff's, Bryan Dunagan and Ronald Moses, to enroll in a basic law enforcement course of 160 hours being offered by the college Jan.

31 through Feb. 25. County Judge Kenneth Douglas explained that under a new state law, deputies and other police officers hired after March 1, 1971, must complete 140 the County Commissioners.

hours in law enforcement work to become accredited officers under new Law Enforcement Commission standards and regulations.

Since these two deputies were employed after that date it is mandatory they receive the prescribed course of training, the Court acknowledged.

Routinely, the Court approved for payment bills and claims for December presented by County Auditor John D. George amounting to $24,410.61 from the general fund and $18,089.65 from the road and bridge fund. Bills and claims for Memorial Hospital amounting to $107,750.91, which the hospital board previously had approved, were presented by Gene Barron, hospital administrator, and likewise were approved as a formality by the Court.

With all business on its agenda handled during the morning session, the Court recessed for lunch making itself available during the afternoon to any citizen having business to bring before

Solicitations Questioned Here

Telephone solicitations to area residents from an Oak Cliff organization may not be all the caller claims.

A Corsicana resident told the Daily Sun Friday morning that he had received a call from the Dallas area church organization claiming to be soliciting funds for orphans. All you have to do, said the caller, is buy four light bulbs from us for $3.50 and the money will be channeled into the orphans' fund.

A check with the Better Business Bureau by the Corsicanan revealed that only one cent out of every dollar collected is actually going to the orphans.

"These people are making these calls under the guise of Christianity," the Corsicana businessman said, "while in actuality it's just a money-making dodge of their own." He pointed out that if these people could get in touch with him, they might very well be getting in touch with other Corsicana residents who won't bother to check out the organization.

Man Sentenced

Wayne Earl Stillwell was found guilty of burglary in 13th District Court here Wednesday and assessed a sentence of from two to six years in prison.

The sentence was read by District Judge James Sewell.

The man was charged with burglary of P&S Pharmacy on Sept. 25, 1971. Stillwell is presently in custody at Navarro County Jail.

Tandy Corp. Plane Crashes

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — An executive jet plane belonging to the Tandy Corp. of Fort Worth crashed while approaching the airport here Tuesday, killing all nine persons aboard.

A Tandy spokesman in Fort Worth said Lewis Shows, a company vice president, was the only company executive aboard. Others were from New York and Fort Worth, he said.

The FAA in Fort Worth said the aircraft left Meacham Field there early today and filed a flight plan for Victoria. An FAA spokesman in Palacios said the jet was making an instruments approach when it crashed near U.S. 77

The Lear jet crashed on a farm about six miles northeast of Victoria on the R. E. Crawitz farm during a heavy fog, authorities said.

Man Arrested On Morals Charge

KERENS—Navarro County Deputy Sheriff Bryan Dunagan today said a case, in which a 43-year-old Kerens man is charged with burglary with attempt to rape, is still under investigation by the Sheriff's Department.

Willie J. Haynes was charged with the offense and bond was set at $10,000 by Peace Justice W. H. Tipton.

Dunagan said the man is alleged to have attacked an 81-year-old woman in her home at about 2:30 p.m. Monday. The incident was not reported until some time later, and the arrest was made at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday, a couple of hours after the Kerens City Marshal told the Sheriff's Deputy about the case.

the ground to heave. Droemer said the plan was to chisel out the wooden expansion joints in the sidewalk and drain the water to let the ground heave back into position.

After added discussion, he said heaving at the end of the sidewalk could have taken place and it would perhaps be necessary to cut it down "three or four inches.'

The second problem is a gas leak which was repaired by school district maintenance men.

Droemer told the board the pipes for the gas line were installed by a subcontractor who received them from another source. He said "somewhere down the line" the wrapping around the pipes was scarred, which resulted in electrolysis, or the wearing of a hole in the pipe, causing the leak.

Tharp said, "I simply recommend that the board consider the installation of annods for protection," adding it would take two of the devices on the system. Droemer added that if any additional leaks appear, they would do so in the "next three or four months. After that they should be good for the next 15

Dr. James Price asked who would be responsible for paying the additional price and Tharp replied it would be the school district's because it would be an addition to the building, instead of a repair expense.

No action on the matter was taken by the board.

The third and last problem is a roof leak over the kitchen area, which the contractor told the board would be repaired this week.

In other discussion during the meeting, high school principal David Ingram told the board that thefts and "wandering students" had diminished on the high school parking lot since a man had been on duty to watch the area.

However, he asked if another exit would be provided because of the traffic jam each afternoon.

In reply, Seale told the board and Ingram the lot was designed by a state highway safety engineer who had stated that more than one exit was the key problem in accidents on parking lots opening onto highways.

"I know it isn't expedient," admitted Seale, "but safety is our prime objective."

The board agreed to employ a watchman for the parking area at ballgames so that drive lanes would be cleared for the events.

Ingram and Lee Pennington, assistant superintendent of instruction, gave the board a report on the CHS computer system, which was recommended for reuse by Ingram, Pennington and Seale.

At a previous meeting, the board had discussed the possibility of employing a full-time clerk to fill out the records the computer was presently doing. CHS records and information are sent to San Antonio to be compiled and recorded. This includes scheduling and grading, at the cost of $.74 for scheduling, $.75 for grading and $.13 for maintenance of records per student.

Ingram said he felt the computer freed counselors to see students. He added. "There has not been time during the day, at least not over ten minutes, when there hasn't been a student in one of the offices (of the three counselors) or a line of them waiting outside."

"Is it worth it?" asked Dr. James Price with Ingram answering, "Most definitely." The contract with the computer firm was approved.

In other business, board members Hugh Fullerton and Albert Sanders board's behalf from the Optimist Club second installment check for the Tartan floor in the CHS gym. The club has pledged $7,500 toward the project.

At the recommendation of Ingram, two CHS students who were expelled from the high school last semester were expelled for this semester, also. A third student has returned to school, said

The board tabled a request for an indistrict transfer, pending further information on the case.

Seale announced that a textbook hearing would be Feb. 1 and 2 in the school administration building, with representatives of the publishing firms present. He noted that a sample of each book up for adoption is on display in Pennington's office.

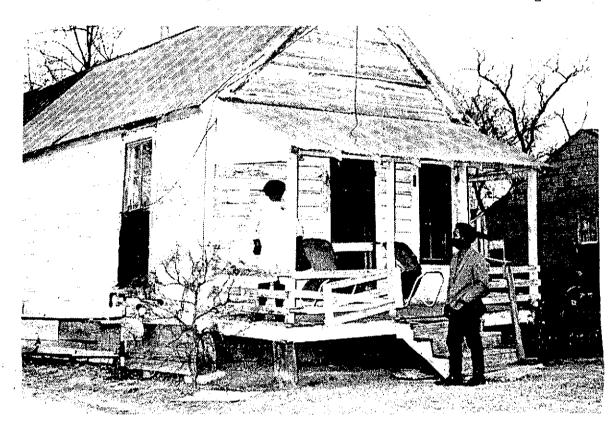

Euin Frank, assistant superintendent of fiscal affairs, reported that all but one roof leak at Fannin Elementary were repaired and had stemmed from con-

Board members also reviewed five points concerning the recent court decision in San Antonio regarding school tax allocations.

They include: the fact that ad valorem taxes were not ruled unconstitutional; the court ruling did question the constitutionality of matching funds from state to local districts; the matter of fund money will effect local district building programs; an appeal was made to the Federal Court in San Antonio in a recent meeting of the State Board of Education for permission to have the ruling heard before the U.S. Supreme Court; and the two year limit for resolving the problem is a matter of concern as it effects public school financing.

Seale reported there was no executive board meeting.

Hospital Emergency Room Has Problems

By ROB MECKEL Sun Staff Writer

The adequacy of emergency room services at Navarro County Memorial Hospital was discussed in a conference Wednesday afternoon attended by the Hospital Board of Managers chairman, the hospital director and the hospital chief of staff.

Questions which arose in connection with the recent death of a four-month-old infant who had received treatment but was not admitted to the local hospital. and a complaint early this week by the parents of another infant who was treated at the hospital, led to an inquiry by The Daily Sun. After investigation of the case involving the death of the infant, it was found that the parents had indeed taken their child to the emergency room here, that he had an above-normal temperature, was examined by a physician and given an injection and a prescription for oral medication.

The child was not admitted to the hospital. The doctor felt that the child could be treated through out-patient

The parents took the infant home and a few hours later decided to take him to a hospital in Hillsboro where a physician examined the child. This doctor concurred with the opinion of the Navarro County Memorial Hospital doctor, that the case could be handled through outpatient care. The Hillsboro physician asked the parents to return with the child at 5:45 p.m. that same afternoon.

The parents returned to the Hillsboro Hospital at about 4:30 p.m. with the child seriously ill. The physician admitted the child immediately, administered medication and ordered that the infant be given a sponge bath to reduce the fever. The doctor stayed on the case until the child died about 2:55 a.m. the next day.

Cause of the child's death, according to the Hillsboro physician, was at first believed to have been influenza with pneumonia because the X-rays showed beginning pneumonia, but he later decided it was possibly an overwhelming infection which "caused the heart to go

Reasons for the child's not being admitted at Navarro County Memorial Hospital were presented during the Wednesday conference in the hospital conference room.

Chief of Staff Dr. Robert Bone said records show the infant displayed symptoms of acute illness which appeared to be a middle ear infection. The usual treatment for this is a penicillin injection followed by oral penicillin.

"This generally gets them well on the first visit," he said. Bone commented that the concept of medical treatment has changed since the days when doctors could make numerous house calls. He said the concept of medical care now is to bring ill persons to the hospital where the facilities allow for better service to patients. "Usually they can be treated and taken back home and recover just as well (as they would if admitted to the hospital)," Bone said. In the other case involving a child, a Corsicana man said his 14-month-old son had developed a high fever and he took him to the county hospital here. He told The Daily Sun they had to wait two hours before the doctor arrived after having been summoned to the emergency room. They added that another mother also had to wait the two hours with her baby suffering from diarrhea.

After the baby was treated, it was not admitted to the hospital. The parents took the baby home and she spongebathed him. His temperature dropped shortly thereafter, and the child got well.

In regard to this case, Bone commented that on the day the child was taken to the emergency room, the child's regular physician was working in the county on flu cases and was not available, so another doctor took the case. He ordered a blood count on the child and in the meantime took several other calls with other patients. He said the lab results on the blood count took something over half-an-hour for completion, so the extra waiting period before the child was treated was actually only about one hour and 15 minutes.

The parents said they asked for several other doctors when the child's doctor did not arrive, but were told none of them was available at the time.

Dr. Bone, however, said he was in and out of the emergency room that day and other doctors were available if the family wanted one. The Chief of Staff said when there is a flu epidemic in the area it is not uncommon for people to wait an hour or two in the doctors' offices. Dr. Bone commented that this particular afternoon the hospital was full and only emergency beds were available. He said when there are plenty of beds available borderline emergency cases are admitted to the hospital by the doctors. He felt this could be handled as an out-patient case. "In this case, the facts are that the child was well the next day," the physician said.

In discussion concerning problems in the hospital's emergency room, Hospital Administrator Gene Barron commented that only about 30 per cent of the cases are what the hospital would consider real emergencies.

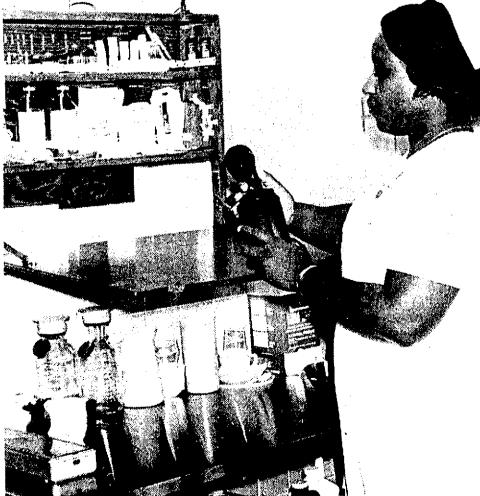

"It's amazing how many cases come in that are not really emergencies at all," Dr. Bone said. He added that many patients come to the emergency room and purposely do not go to their doctor's office because they have an account there.

Barron said the hospital averages having to write off about seven per cent of its cases as bad debt accounts. He added that about 60 per cent are Medicare and Medicaid patients, and about 33 per cent are patients who pay their own bills.

In describing the emergency room procedure, Dr. Bone said any time a patient comes in for an emergency a doctor is called. The nurse is prohibited by law from prescribing medication. She may call the doctor and he may prescribe something for the patient. When asked if there might be a problem in nurses being reluctant to disturb doctors on call, Bone said some nurses are reluctant to call doctors because some doctors are "more vocal" than others. In all cases the nurse may not always agree with the doctor about emergencies. But if a doctor gets too far out of hand, disciplinary action is taken against him.

Barron said a doctor will always be available in cases of a major accident.

He said the police contact the hospital about the accident and the hospital summons the doctor by activating a "beeping" apparatus attached to his waist. The doctors on call carry two-way radio units supplied by the hospital if they do not have their personal units. Barron said there are about 23 or 24 doctors who rotate on the emergency room roster to cover emergencies for those patients who do not have their own private physicians.

"If they can't reach the doctor on call, they call another doctor," Barron said. "If other doctors cannot be reached, they call the chief of staff."

He said the length of time a nurse waits and calls another doctor when a doctor she has already summoned does not arrive generally depends on the severity of the case.

Barron commented that the hospital has expanded its emergency service by instituting a program to train all hospital staff in emergency treatment of heart attack victims.

Barron admitted that one problem concerning the emergency room is lack of space.

"Emergency room facilities are not large enough to take care of the load," he said, "but there's no money to pay for new facilities." He said the hospital could use more cubicles in which to place emergency patients.

The amount of equipment is presently sufficient, according to Barron. The number of staff members would be essentially the same unless the number of cases goes up.

Staff Writer "Old" Harry Hudson was finally put out to pasture last year, which may seem rather abrupt for a guy not even forty years old.

Hudson, one of the charter members of the Corsicana Jaycee chapter, reached the mandatory retirement age of 36 last May and became the last of the original membership to finally fade into the sunset. "The trend, not only in Corsicana but everywhere, is towards youth," he observed. "It
